FOREIGN STUDENT AFFAIRS MEETING IN COLORADO

MISSOULA, Mont.--

Jack L. Hoover, associate director of admissions and records at the University of Montana in Missoula, and four UM students recently (Nov. 7-9) represented the University at the annual region II conference of the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs (NAFSA) at Colorado State University, Fort Collins.

Conference theme was "Educating for World Citizenship." Hoover, who is regional chairman for NAFSA through May 1975, presided at the conference.

University students attending the conference included Rachel Rigdon Sprunk, Missoula, formerly of Le Mars, Iowa, a UM freshman who was community representative at the conference; R. Steven Clark, Hamilton, a senior; Margaret Mary Hazlewood, Georgetown, Guyana, a sophomore, and Kiran Kumar Sharma, Kathmandu, Nepal, a graduate student.

Others participating in the conference included representatives of the Immigration and Naturalization Service; the Social Security Administration; U.S. State Department; Rockefeller Foundation; Institute of International Education, and numerous other agencies.

NAFSA is composed of admissions officials, junior college representatives, foreign student advisers, study abroad advisers, teachers of English as a second language, community representatives and foreign students. UM students were able to attend the conference under NAFSA travel grants.
